Summer temperatures in Moscow force residents to escape the city center in search of cooler waters.

This year Moscow residents without a dacha or travel plans will have exactly 11 ways to escape the notorious summer heat without having to leave the capital, by going for a dip at one of the city's beaches.

The Construction, Housing and Utilities Ministry said in an online statement that 93 recreational areas had been made available for outdoor activities — 11 of which will offer swimming facilities.

From June to September, Muscovites can cool their heads at Belaye Ozero and Chornoye Ozero in eastern Moscow; Bolshoi Gorodskoi Prud in Zelenograd; Meshchyorskoye in western Moscow; Akademicheskkiye Prudy, Levoberezhny, Beach Club and Serebryany Bor 2 and 3 in northern Moscow; and Troparyevo recreation area in southwestern Moscow.

All of the swimming points will have parking facilities, retail spaces, showers and toilet facilities, changing rooms, waste disposal and emergency medical aid posts, the statement said.

Opening hours are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. from June to September.

As in other years, the sale of alcoholic beverages will be forbidden at all of the recreational areas, City Hall said, Interfax reported.
