

Cold War: Russian Skiers Take to Slopes in Nothing But Bikinis (Video)

By The Moscow Times

April 20, 2015

The  Moscow Times

Men hold a woman on a snowboard as they pose for a picture after finishing a "downhill ski and snowboard descent in swimwear" event on Mount Zelyonaya (The Green Mount), at a ski resort near the town of Sheregesh in the Siberian Kemerovo region, April 18, 2015.

Almost two thousand people descended on the Russian ski resort of Sheregesh over the weekend wearing nothing but swimming costumes, in a bid to break one of the world's more eye-catching Guinness records.

See the photo gallery: Hundreds Ski Down Siberian Slope in Bikinis

About 1,830 skiers and boarders took to the slopes on Saturday to set a new record for the number of people taking part in a so-called "bikini-descent" as part of the Grelka Fest ski festival, organizers said on their website.

В Шерегеше установлен новый рекорд Гиннеса! Мы это сделали :) P.S. 1835 человек прошли регистрацию на спуск. pic.twitter.com/SUGLEoZXSL

— Шерегеш — это круто (@GeshRu) April 18, 2015

Video footage uploaded to YouTube shows hundreds of brave men and women dressed in nothing but their bikinis and swimming trunks racing down a 500-meter slope at Sheregesh, a resort in southern Russia.

The record for the number of people taking part in a “bikini-descent” was set at the same resort in 2013, when 500 people braved the cold, according to the Guinness Book of World Records.

На горнолыжном курорте Шерегеш продолжается #grelkafest
pic.twitter.com/ImppcSlXuP

— GRELKA FEST ШЕРЕГЕШ (@grelkafest) April 18, 2015

The organizers of the event have since filed an application with the Guinness Book of World Records to try to register the new record.

Watch the video here:

Original url:

<https://www.themoscowtimes.com/2015/04/20/cold-war-russian-skiers-take-to-slopes-in-nothing-but-bikinis-video-a45900>