

How to Decorate Your Christmas Tree, Russian Style

December 20, 2017

Vladimir Smirnov / TASS

You say Christmas tree, Russians say New Year's Tree.

But that is not the only thing that sets aside a Russian tree from its foreign counterparts. The holiday season is the perfect occasion to show your feathers and Russians are not ones to hold back.

Bizarre, quirky and cute, here's how to decorate your tree, Russian style.

Can you imagine Russia without its colorful Church domes?

It's a thing!

Nothing says "Season's Greetings" like tanks...

If you're not into angels or other religious decorations, do it like the Soviets did, and put everyday objects in the spotlight.

Or take a trip down memory lane ...

... and forget about current troubles for a while.

And don't be afraid of cliches!

Go high brow ...

... or just bring out the vodka.
