

The Best Calendars for 2018, Russian Style

December 28, 2017

MT

Vladimir Putin calendars might be sold out in Britain, but fret not — Russian bookstores, souvenir shops and newspaper kiosks still have plenty in stock.

So many, in fact, that deciding how to begin the year — or startle your relatives with an "original" gift from Russia — can be a fretful challenge. They're all the same and yet so different!

Let's be honest. There's no way of beating the New Year's classic: A Putin calendar. This year, the 65-year-old president gives the months of the year an additional twist. There's Putin on a horse in January, Putin holding a puppy in June. And August stands for Putin with a pistol.

Embed:

I hereby confess that the person buying all the Putin calendars was me
<https://t.co/1xyknSpMKP> pic.twitter.com/uhMMhAvayh

— max seddon (@maxseddon) December 5, 2017

Looking for something less generic? For the connoisseurs, there is Putin on a fishing trip — the highlight of 2017 — or Putin and the Year of the Dog. You can also simply go for "The entire year with the Russian president."

Embed:

A good Moscow magazine kiosk is measured by its assortment of Putin calendars. My favorite here is "Year of the dog with Russia's president"
pic.twitter.com/lrXDFzSepC

— Alec Luhn (@ASLuhn) November 6, 2017

Take a break from Putin with traditional Russian sights like the Kremlin — you know, that place where Putin hangs out?

Embed:

Календарь Москва 2018 #russianlife #календарь #календарь2018 #Москва #фото #russianlife #calendar #calendar2018 #Moscow <https://t.co/tq5ysEvoll>
pic.twitter.com/uuqkslO9FB

— IgorSobolev_com (@IgorSobolev_com) December 1, 2017

Just released last week, this calendar with Orthodox priests and motorcycles is a new contender for the top prize. Sorry, Putin.

Embed:

... and in the category of "you can't make this up" - a calendar of Orthodox biker-priests. (Actually, rural priests can't afford cars and so get around this way.)
<https://t.co/niowqPISLl>

— Michele A. Berdy (@MicheleBerdy) December 26, 2017

A pocket-size Putin watching out for birds ... or fighter jets.

Looking to work less, relax more in 2018? Let Putin show you the way.

Embed:

2018 Wall Calendar: Vladimir Putin - the President of Russia. $9.98

<https://t.co/Tk8mHak4C1> pic.twitter.com/kzAFpMOBuY

— Karl E (@therussophile) December 3, 2017

Here's another Russian ruler to look over your home or office.

Cats, the Guards of St. Petersburg. Or: How to turn something cute into something intimidating.

Embed:

Received this Guards of St Petersburg cat calendar out of the blue from someone I've never met in Moscow... What is happening?! @dennettl are you the culprit?

pic.twitter.com/OIxbFTi2Po

— Suzy Rigdon (@SuzyRigdon) November 30, 2017

It's Matrix Putin, casually strolling ahead of an army of what can only be described as well-dressed zombies.

Can't decide? Go for the 2-in-1 combination of the Year of the Dog and the upcoming World Cup. Even Putin can't beat that one!

Happy New Year!

Embed:

The Chinese year of the dog and @FIFAWorldCup are coming beautifully together in #Russian 2018 calendars pic.twitter.com/C8dbEPwBQk

— Amie Ferris-Rotman (@Amie_FR) November 28, 2017

Original url:

<https://www.themoscowtimes.com/2017/12/28/how-to-start-a-new-year-russian-style-a59989>