

Russian Town Chases Out Rowdy Polar Bear Invaders

February 11, 2019

muah_irinaelis / Instagram

Authorities in Russia's remote Arctic archipelago of Novaya Zemlya have taken measures to chase away a band of polar bears that had established a reign of terror over locals in recent days.

Photos and videos on social media showed polar bears entering apartment blocks and other living quarters and rummaging through garbage in the settlement of 3,000.

Embed:

Посмотреть эту публикацию в Instagram

Публикация от Пятигорск Солнечный и все КМВ \(@kmv_sunny\) 10 Фев 2019 в 6:57 PST

Authorities in the Arkhangelsk region, which oversees Novaya Zemlya, declared a state of emergency on Saturday due to the mass invasion of at least 52 polar bears.

Embed:

Посмотреть эту публикацию в Instagram

Публикация от ДТП/ЧП [Сахалин] 18+ (@sakhalin_chp) 10 Фев 2019 в 3:08 PST

Efforts to drive out the polar bears from the human habitat have partly paid off, Zhigansha Musin, the head of the municipal administration, told Russian media on Monday.

“We are chasing the bears away with the tools that we have,” the state-run RIA Novosti quoted Musin as saying. “Their number is now smaller than 50, [but] we can’t calculate [accurately] due to the weather.”

Embed:

Посмотреть эту публикацию в Instagram

Публикация от Krasnodar Great Again (@typicalkrd) 9 Фев 2019 в 5:06 PST

The authorities arranged transportation for the safe passage of children to and from kindergartens and of troops to and from military garrisons, he added.

Embed:

Посмотреть эту публикацию в Instagram

Публикация от Анастасия Алексеева (@this_is_anastasya) 10 Янв 2019 в 10:30 PST

Musin's deputy Alexander Minayev told regional authorities that some of the invading polar bears had attacked people, Agence France Presse reported on Saturday.

Embed:

Посмотреть эту публикацию в Instagram

Публикация от Irina Elis MURMANSK, RUSSIA (@muah_irinaelis) 4 Фев 2019 в 2:42 PST

Although Russia classifies polar bears as endangered species and bans their killing, regional authorities reportedly entertained the idea of shooting down the animals as “the only possible forced measure.”

Embed:

Посмотреть эту публикацию в Instagram

Публикация от Irina Elis MURMANSK, RUSSIA (@muah_irinaelis) 3 Фев 2019 в 9:21 PST

WWF Russia, meanwhile, warned that the effects of climate change that have driven the polar bears to interact with the human population will also affect tigers and reindeer in Siberia and the Russian Far East.

Embed:

Посмотреть эту публикацию в Instagram

Публикация от Konstantin Bubnov (@konstantin_bubnov) 14 Окт 2018 в 3:05 PDT

Embed:

Original url:

<https://www.themoscowtimes.com/2019/02/11/russian-town-chases-out-rowdy-polar-bear-invaders-a64454>