The Russian Media: Lessons from the 1990s

Nataliya Rostova
Russian Media Researcher

April 20, 2023
The George Washington University

Nataliya Rostova is one of the leading researchers on Russian media. In her lecture "The Russian Media: Lessons of the 1990s," Rostova discusses how the vector of Russian media development, established after the collapse of the U.S.S.R., led to the Putin regime — and explains who among Putin's functionaries are the real pillars of the regime.

This lecture at George Washington University is part of a series of talks by media professionals and experts on Russia organized by The Moscow Times at leading universities and research centers around the world.
